

Celebrating Mother's Day

Excerpts from "The Streets of Me" narrative by Laura Rath

The young man continued the very next week trying to save the people of Me.

"Explain to us sir, what do you mean? The last shall be first? But how can that be?"

"Look," he said and all eyes followed his as he silently watched a young mom with three kids.

There was scratching of heads as the townspeople watched...and slowly there came the dawning of thoughts.

"She gives out of love."

"She gives from her heart."

"Sir, is that it? Is that where we start?"

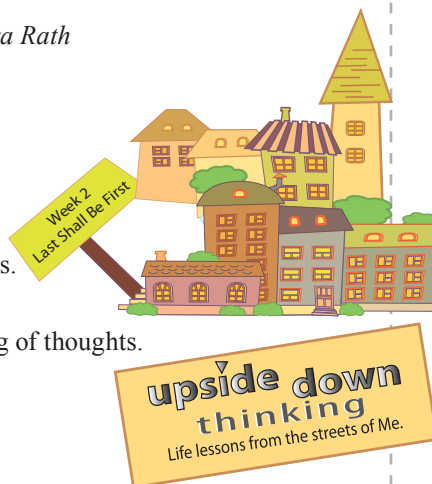

"Put others first and put yourself last," he nodded ascent and then went to rest.

Today's message, "Last Shall be First" aptly fits the day's celebration—Mother's Day. It seems that most mothers instinctively embody this topic. After all, they give and give. The late-night feedings to an infant, the painstaking study of choosing the right preschool, the miles traveling to soccer games and ballet concerts, the planning of overnight scout meetings, the constant help with homework, the not-so appreciated advice given during the teen years, the college visits and the care packages sent to their new apartment show only a microcosm of what mothers do for their children. Simply stated: mothers put their children above themselves and in doing so, demonstrate a real-life example of greatness.

On the opposite spectrum, the world teaches greatness is obtained through notable achievements, prestigious honors and/or enormous riches. However, Jesus puts an end to the world's definition when he answers the disciple's question on who is the greatest in Mark 9:35:

"Whoever wants to be first must take last place and be the servant of everyone else."

Jesus is impressed when we serve others from a pure heart and not impressed when our motives reveal selfish desires, such as recognition or affirmation. So, today, let's look at Jesus' definition of greatness and the women around us who live their lives by serving others.

Things My Mother Taught Me

 from garvick.com

My Mother taught me logic... "If you fall off that swing and break your neck, you can't go to the store with me."

My Mother taught me to think ahead... "If you don't pass your spelling test, you'll never get a good job!"

My Mother taught me to meet a challenge... "What were you thinking? Answer me when I talk to you. Don't talk back to me!"

My Mother taught me humor... "When that lawn mower cuts off your toes, don't come running to me."

My Mother taught me about justice... "One day you will have kids, and I hope they turn out just like you. Then you'll see what it's like."

Strategic Plan

A few weeks ago, Pastor Burcham spoke to the congregation about multi-site ministry. If you were not present during his talk, the video can be seen on our Web site at www.gloriadeionline.com by clicking the “Strategic Plan” link in the left column. Question and answer sessions were then held with Pastor Burcham and the Governing Board answering questions concerning becoming a multi-site ministry. The following are a few questions which reoccurred throughout the sessions:

When will we know more about multi-site ministry?

The four MATs are working diligently to gather more information to bring to the congregation. Here is a timeline of what you can expect in the next few months:

- Late May: Every member will receive the Annual Report in the mail along with an updated multi-site ministry handout outlining the progress.
- June: Pastor Burcham will again address the congregation after each worship service with additional information that has been gathered. After that, we will ask each member to give their feedback on multi-site ministry through an online survey.
- July: The Governing Board (including both incoming and outgoing members) will meet to analyze the online congregational survey results. If it looks like the congregation is in favor of pursuing multi-site ministry, the Board will form a comprehensive plan to bring to the congregation. At that important juncture, a final decision will need to emanate from the entire family at Gloria Dei—it has to be a family decision.

Will current members be asked to attend another site initially?

As we have done in the past when launching a new worship service, we will ask members to consider and pray about being a missionary for the new campus. Their participation in worship will create a warm and welcoming atmosphere for new worshippers as well as current members.

Please keep in mind that no one will be required to attend a particular worship service or campus. Multi-site ministry allows people who want to stay here to stay, and those who would like to attend worship at a different campus to do so. It allows us to grow our ministry in multiple locations.

How would we determine where sites would be?

Since we currently have space issues, our first site has to be geographically close. In doing so, we can offer additional elements at a campus close to our Aurora campus that would relieve some of our space issues and be a short commute for our members. A new location would enhance our current facility by offering a coffee shop and additional meeting rooms. It is important to realize that the new site will be a fully functional campus, meaning it will have at least one worship service, as well as weekend educational times for children, youth and adults. To alleviate space issues, our midweek educational times for youth would be offered at the new campus.

A third campus is also being considered in the not-so-distant future. This campus would be more of a mission site with a pioneer/missionary mindset in an area where a cluster of our members live, such as the Johnston/Grimes area, where 23% of our members live.

Will more pastors and staff need to be hired?

We are in the process of determining the specific staffing needs for a multi-site ministry. In the meantime, we need to train more ministry partners in all areas of ministry and encourage them to use their gifts and abilities.

What does the District say about this?

Iowa District West is interested in multi-site ministry because they believe it might be a possible model for rural congregations. Looking at rural towns, some churches are remaining steady with membership, but there are financial challenges because the majority of congregations worship 100 or less. Their limited resources make it difficult to maintain a full-time minister and ministry.

Our Lord invites to his table those who trust his words, repent of all sin, and seek to forgive and love as He forgives and loves us. If you agree with our beliefs regarding the nature and meaning of this Sacrament and desire to commune with us, you are welcome! For the medical and/or physical needs of members or visitors, non-alcoholic wine will be in the inner circle of each communion tray and will be lighter in color than the regular wine.
